Why Do Candles Go Before the Gospel?

When the priest carries the Gospel Book in a procession during the liturgy, the altar servers carry candles before him to show that the word of God is a "lamp unto our feet and a light unto our path." The candles that go before the Gospel Book tell us that the word of God is truly a light for the darkness in which we walk. The purpose of God's Word is to show us the way, to prevent us from stumbling in the darkness, and to lead us home to God. We need to listen carefully when God's Word is being read in church. We need also to read God's Word every day in the holy Bible. God's word is like a flashlight in the darkness. St. Isaac the Syrian said, "Reading the Word of God is the light of the soul"
